

PRESIDENT TAFT IS A GUEST OF CHICAGO

REACHES CITY ON WHIRLWIND TRIP TO ARGUE FOR RECIPROCITY TREATY.

STARTS BOOM TODAY

Will Remain Over Night and Make Several Addresses and Have Numerous Conferences.

(BY UNITED PRESS.)
Chicago, June 3.—President Taft came to Chicago today as the guest of the Western Economic Society, to make his crowning plea for the enactment into law of the Canadian Reciprocity Treaty.

The president's supporters throughout the middle west, and the supporters of Canadian reciprocity, are not backward in the declaration that the president's visit will be, too, the opening gun in his campaign for re-election by the Republican party in 1912. For that reason special interest attaches itself to his visit to the progressive middle west.

President Taft arrived at 2 p. m. over the Pennsylvania. He was greeted by a reception committee from the Western Economic Society, composed of Harry A. Wheeler, Shafter Matthews, J. S. Miller, Jos. Schaffner, M. M. Williams, Graham Taylor, J. L. Laughlin, George M. Reynolds, and L. C. Marshall. He will be invited to attend the luncheon of the Irish Fellowship Society and is expected to accept. Later the president will receive Harold P. McCormick and the committee in charge of the great aviation meeting in Chicago, at which he will be asked to attend and to which he will be asked to extend the government's co-operation.

At 6 o'clock he will be the guest of honor given by the officials of the Western Economic Society, attended by the officers of the society, the presidents of the various associations, the speakers of the Chicago Association of Commerce, and the visiting governors.

At 8 o'clock the president will deliver his reciprocity speech in a monster meeting at Orchestra hall, at which it is declared 193 presidential campaign of 1912 will be informally inaugurated. Among the speakers at the evening meeting will be Shafter Matthews, president of the society; J. L. Laughlin, of the University of Chicago; Harry A. Wheeler, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Three meetings were scheduled for today as part of the first reciprocity being the theme of all the sessions. The first session was held this morning at 10 o'clock at Pullman hall, in the Art Institute, the speakers being: Prof. H. P. Willis of George Washington University; Prof. V. Robinson of the University of Minnesota; Rodney H. Swift, of Chicago; George C. White, of Nevada, and ex-Gov. Edward W. Cahoon.

Prof. H. Parker Willis spoke on the "International Aspects of Reciprocity." He declared that the advantages to both countries certain to follow the adoption of the reciprocity pact were so evident and so considerable as to make it imperative to accept it. Reciprocity, he said, was a step toward the establishment of those equitable trade relations with Canada which can only be reached by a marked reduction, if not actual abolition, of tariff restrictions upon the mutual interchange of commodities. The agreement, if adopted, he said, would be an important step toward revision of our system of international tariff treaties. His speech was a technical discussion of the "most favored nation" clause, declaring "the United States has stoutly maintained its claim that we cannot properly be called upon to make common even to those nations with which we have a 'most favored nation' clause, the advantages accorded to any one unless others which desire the same advantages are willing to extend equivalent concessions."

"This interpretation, he said, would not be relinquished. "The question would, therefore, remain whether the United States could not refuse to open such negotiations for the expansion of reciprocity agreements to other nations which might demand such arrangements. Should it refuse it must expect to see the present minimum rate basis granted by other countries, withdrawn. It is almost certain Germany would withdraw from us certain minimum rates now enjoyed by the United States. The question of England's position already has been raised in parliament. Such demands should not be refused, nor could we expect to secure much attention for the former threat that we would apply our tariff rate to the country which grants a special preference to others."

In his speech, former governor Hoard declared his wish to have the farmers of the country see that most of the opposition to reciprocity is based on politics and little of it on any regard for the future welfare of the farmers.

Reciprocity, he declared, would be of inestimable benefit to the farming element.

Prof. Robinson, of the University of Minnesota, declared that reciprocity would result in cheaper mill food for stock and dairy farms, in reduced rates on fresh, cured and canned meats, fish, vegetables and fruits, wagons, agricultural instruments, motor cars, buried wires and rough lumber.

At the afternoon meeting, late this afternoon, the speakers will be Prof. F. W. Taussig, of Harvard University; Robert Fallerton, of Des Moines, Ia.; Prof. W. A. Scott, of the University of Wisconsin, and Prof. David Kinley, of the University of Illinois.

Following both the morning and afternoon set programs, there was an informal discussion on reciprocity.

Former U. S. Senator Lafe Young, of Iowa, who was to have attacked the reciprocity program, was unable to be present and his place was taken by J. V. Collins of the American Protective Tariff League.

President Taft will spend Saturday night in Chicago and will leave Sunday morning on his return trip to Washington.

THIRD CLASS CITIES AFFECTED BY BILL

Which Provides That Streets May Be Vacated on Petitions of Less Than A Majority of Citizens.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., June 3.—A bill is taking its course through the legislature which will affect residents of third class cities more than is generally realized. The bill proposes to change the present law regarding the vacation of streets in such manner that it can be accomplished whether the majority of the citizens want streets given up or not. The bill, which is a Judiciary committee substitute for one introduced by Assemblyman Harper of Madison, makes these changes in the present law:

Signatures of one-half the frontages instead of two-thirds of the property owners on the street, a part of which is required to be vacated.

Permitting only those whose property is within one-half mile of the land to be vacated, and who reside on the street, to sign a vacation petition. At present it requires two thirds of all owners on the street, but the bill would change this to one-half of only those within one-half mile.

The bill originally was designed to fit a local situation in Madison. An illustration of how the proposed new law would affect some cities of the third class is Assemblyman C. J. Johnson's statement of the situation in his city, Marinette. On the floor yesterday, in a foible protest against the bill he said that out of 22 streets in Marinette running to the Menominee river all but two have been vacated on behalf of lumber companies, under the methods prescribed in the existing law. "And if this bill passes, I'm afraid I'll have to have a ship to get to the river," said Mr. Johnson.

Speaker Ingram secured the exception of fourth class cities such as he has in his district from the provisions of the bill, and the Milwaukee delegation did the same with respect to Milwaukee. Tomorrow as the only second class city in the state is Superior, and that city desires another portion of the bill on a different subject incorporated into law, the only communities injuriously affected are such cities as Fond du Lac, Racine, Eau Claire, De Pere, La Crosse, Marinette, Green Bay, Manitowish, Sheboygan, etc., and also all of the villages.

TERRIBLE SUFFERING TOLD OF IN RUSSIA

Political Exiles in Russian Province Undergo Hardships Which Rival Those of Siberia.

St. Petersburg, June 3.—Astonishing revelations of the sufferings of political exiles deported to Archangel, the most northerly province of Russia, are published here today. Recently a large number of political offenders have been banished to this province instead of to Siberia.

One of the most desolate settlements is the village of Kevla which lies within the Arctic circle. It consists of sixty wooden huts inhabited by the natives, who are a mixed race, partly Esquimaux and partly Tartar. Those exiles who can afford it are allowed to lodge with the natives in the foul atmosphere of their miserable hovels, while a large barn with straw scattered over the floor is provided for those unable to pay any rent.

Each exile receives an allowance of four dollars per month from the government. There is no opportunity of earning money at Kevla, so that those who receive no remittances from relatives are ever on the verge of starvation.

From April to October there is one small store in the village and during the remaining five months of the year none at all. From April till October the mails arrive twice a month, but the postal service is entirely suspended from November till March. There is no priest or pastor, no medical man and no pharmacy in the place, which is surrounded by gloomy forests infested by bears and wolves. The nearest settlement is sixty miles distant.

CABINET IS FORMED IN CHINESE EMPIRE

Old Grand Council Said to Have Been Replaced Under New Regime by Cabinet Government.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Washington, June 3.—Minister Cui-hong, at Peking, has reported to the State department that the grand council, the executive body of the Chinese government, was recently abolished, and a cabinet formed upon the lines of those of the western nations.

The heads of the board are now styled ministers and constitute the cabinet. Prince Ching, now in charge of the board of foreign affairs, has been made premier of the new cabinet. Liang Yun Yen, who is now in the United States, has been appointed minister for foreign affairs, under Prince Ching.

The grand council heretofore has not been composed, necessarily, of the heads of the departments, though occasionally some of these have been members of it. The council consisted of five members while there are twelve departments in the government. Two of these departments, headed by the board of rights, and the board of civil officers, have been abolished with the formation of the new cabinet.

PROLONGED SESSION IS FORESEEN FROM THE WORK ON HAND

State Lawmakers May Be at Work Until July 4th—Corporate Interests Play Stock and Bond Bill.

—Other Legislative Matters.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., June 3.—The cutting off of committee reports by June 1, by virtue of a rule secured by the steering committee, has resulted in a chaotic situation in the legislature, especially in the lower house, and there is no obedience to it. It is a physical impossibility to report out all business remaining before committees within the stipulated time.

Although a week ago there was reason to believe the legislature might get through by June 25, few now think it can be done, and many opine that July 4 will see the solons still "making laws."

There is a big amount of energy bent on securing the defeat of the stock and bond bill, introduced in the senate. Since the introduction of this comprehensive bill and its recommendation for passage, representatives of corporate interests, including railroads and other public utilities, have been spreading the "alarm" through the corridors of the state-house, declaring that its passage will absolutely cut off the investment of capital in this state in big enterprises. The bill is along the lines laid down by railroad commission, which is crippled under the present law in its efforts to regulate public utility rates. The commission is now compelled to take cognizance of all stock, whether it be watered or not, and all bonds, whether they be justified by the amount of property involved or whether they represent an effort to avoid reductions which on the basis of proper capitalization and bonding would be possible.

"Tax Ferret" Bill.

Great distress also has been shown against the "tax ferret" bill which has passed the assembly and recently came out of the committee on finance into the senate with a favorable recommendation. Four members—two from each house—disapprove. This bill would enable cities to employ officers to "ferret out" property which is now exempting taxation, on a contract fee of 25 per cent of all moneys actually collected, and the matter is optional with city councils. A firm of "ferrets" started work in Milwaukee until it had turned up a couple of million that heretofore had not been taxed, and people who didn't like that sort of business immediately got busy in the courts. The result was a bill legalizing such contracts between city councils and "ferrets," but limiting the commission that may be paid to 25 per cent. It is believed that the senate may pass the bill, but that the vote will be exceedingly close. The issue in the case of this bill is being joined with the fight on the stock and bond bill for the sake of greater strength.

Income Tax to Pass.

The men behind the income tax bill profess to be optimistic for its final success. The administration is not yet prepared to say that it believes the pending bill is just the sort of bill that should be passed, and the matter awaits a decision as to the propriety of going on with the bill. While the bill represents the work of the whole session on the part of the special committee and its broad exports, it is still opposed, especially by corporations who are not satisfied with the way it is proposed to tax their increment. At the beginning of the session it was thought that an income tax bill would be passed as a matter of course, but since the framers of the bill have been at work they find it more difficult than they supposed to satisfy the great interest conference of legislators and administrative leaders and Gov. McGovern is said to have taken a deep interest in the situation.

Deposit Guaranty Killed.

The bill for the insurance of bank deposits, carrying a referendum requirement before it can become law, has gone over for a week, although there is no hope of its passage. With all senators present the bill will get 18 votes, and the number required under the constitution is 22. However, the supporters of the bill are determined to place every senator on record on the proposition, even if it is necessary to have a call of the house. It seems quite certain at this time that failure to enact this principle into law in Wisconsin will mean its injection into the next republican and democratic platforms as issues upon which campaigns are to be fought.

Corrupt Practices.

The assembly corrupt practices bill, which took two months to get through the lower house, is now being further tinkered in the senate, and it may hear some interesting scraps before it goes back to the assembly for concurrence in amendments. That a comprehensive and drastic bill will be passed is certain, but there are many provisions which do not yet meet the approval of a majority of the senate.

BUS LINE IN AIR IS PROJECT CONSIDERED

Berlin, June 3.—The Zeppelin airship Deutschland II, built to replace the ill fated Deutschland, destroyed in June 1910, is now making regular daily passenger trips from Düsseldorf. These trips began at Easter but were interrupted by a mishap which occurred when the huge aerial vessel was being brought out of her roving shed. The repairs lasted a fortnight, and the regular trips have now been recommenced. On each day on which the weather is favorable Deutschland II ascends from Düsseldorf and takes a cruise of two hours' duration. The fare for each passenger is $25. The passengers' saloon, built in which Conductor James Carey and Fireman Fred H. Miller were killed, is included in the price, and cold and hot food is served at one end.

CONDITION OF POPE REPORTED SERIOUS

Despite Contradictory Statements, His Holiness is in Very Poor Health and Has Frequent Attacks.

(BY UNITED PRESS.)

Rome, June 3.—Though usual official denials followed recent reports of the alarming condition of the Pope's health, it is no particular secret about the Vatican that much uneasiness is felt concerning His Holiness. The pontiff is, indeed, up and about. He is kept constantly, however, under a physician's eye and every effort is made by his attendants to shield him from fatigue or worry. The truth is that his attacks of gout are growing steadily more frequent and progressively more serious. His heart is also extremely weak and that he is suffering from arterial degeneration there is no question. During the earlier days following his elevation to the Papal throne he threw off disease with little trouble. Today he does so only with great difficulty and it is certain that any one of his attacks, no matter how mild it may appear at the outset, may result fatally.

FIGURES COMPILED IN RURAL ROUTES

POSTMASTER VALENTINE MAKES PUBLIC AMOUNT OF MAIL HANDLED BY RURAL CARRIERS.

ONE MONTH'S WORK

Number of Pieces and Weight of All Mail in Rural Routes Totalled Up During the Last Month.

Statistics on the amount of mail handled by the rural carriers on the local post office, during the month of May have been compiled and the result of a month's hard work on the part of the authorities regarding this branch of the service was made public by Postmaster Valentine this morning.

Uncle Sam is a hard taskmaster at times, but the wealth of facts regarding the actual amount of mail handled, in number of pieces and in weight, are now a source of gratification to those who have had to put in the extra hours.

Out of all of the mass of figures and data that resulted from the month's test just completed, so far only the rural section has been tallied up. The same system was employed in all of the departments in getting the figures together. Each carrier and clerk was required to keep a daily sheet on which was recorded the number of pieces of mail handled by him and the weight. This was made doubly difficult by the fact that sub-buses were required of all classes of mail.

The work was made it necessary for the force to put in extra time all during the month of May. No extra men were furnished or provided for and the local department is to be congratulated on the way in which the work was carried on along with the daily duties. The detailed data on the results obtained relative to the city carriers and the clerical force should be highly interesting and will be made public in the near future.

There are nine rural carriers. Taking the totals for the nine routes during May, the result is as follows: Number of pieces of mail delivered, 14,375; weight, 10,340 pounds; number of pieces collected, 23,062; weight, 1,224; total number of money orders issued, 111. Taking the total results and dividing them up into the different classes, the number delivered was as follows: First class, letters and cards, 20,993; foreign mail, letters, 139; other mail, 88; registered mail, letters, 18; franked mail, documents, 131; letters, 47; penalty mail, letters, 63; documents, 23; second class, no stamps, newspapers, 38,299; magazines, 3,779; transient papers, 250; third class, circulars, 7,544; other mail, 1,358; fourth class, packages, 1,445. This gives the complete result of the weights and number of all classes of the nine rural routes.

Dividing this result into the individual routes with the carriers, the following is the result:

George Miller, route number one, number of pieces delivered, 15,089; weight, 2,102 pounds; number of pieces collected, 1,052; weight, 43 pounds; money orders, 10.

Charles H. Smith, route number two, number of pieces delivered, 7,022; weight, 1,173; number of pieces collected, 1,052; weight, 43; money orders, 10.

Il. A. Palmer, route number three, number of pieces delivered, 6,506; weight, 976; number of pieces collected, 876; weight, 26; money orders, 15.

John C. Miller, route number four, number of pieces delivered, 8,358; weight, 1,090; number of pieces collected, 1,228; weight, 30; money orders, 12.

Charles C. Armaboe, route number five, number of pieces delivered, 7,319; weight, 918; number of pieces collected, 768; weight, 27; money orders, 12.

Orta M. Smith, route number six, number of pieces delivered, 6,299; weight, 1,005; number of pieces collected, 600; weight, 24; money orders, 12.

Frank Williams, route number seven, number of pieces delivered, 7,062; weight, 1,107; number of pieces collected, 957; weight, 20; money orders, 18.

Albert Gridley, route number eight, number of pieces delivered, 6,740; weight, 981; number of pieces collected, 805; weight, 24; money orders, 10.

George A. Warren, route number nine, number of pieces delivered, 8,370; weight, 922; number of pieces collected, 15,612; weight, 1,008; money orders, 8.

This furnishes to the average person some idea of the amount of mail that passes through the hands of the rural men each month and a detailed account of the results obtained at the city department will be given next week.

THE SPORT WORLD

COMMERCIAL LEAGUE OPENS ITS SEASON AT ATHLETIC PARK

First Games Are Being Played This Afternoon—Doubleheader With Y. M. C. A. Parker, Caloric and Plumbers' Teams Participating.

Today marks the opening of the baseball season of the Janesville Commercial Athletic Association and the four teams now included in the league are playing a doubleheader at the association grounds, Athletic park, this afternoon. One new team has been added to the league this season, the plumbers organizing a baseball team and selecting a manager. The other three teams have had some practice, the Y. M. C. A. playing one Saturday with the Caloric and the following Saturday with the Plumbers. The plumbers have not practiced together, but it is said, have some good players in their line-up and should make a good showing. For this afternoon's contest the Y. M. C. A. line is looked up with the Parker Pen company squad and the Caloric is matched against the plumbers. By next Saturday, it is hoped, one or two more teams will be included in the league.

The line-ups for today's games: Parker Pen Company—Berger, p; Nehr, 1b; Hill, ss; Sullivan, 2b; Abraham, p; Butters, 3b; Dewey, cf; Huston, rf; Hallen, c.
Y. M. C. A.: Richards, p; Brown, c; Hemmings, 1b; Campbell, 2b; Murphy, 3b; Miller, ss; MacDonald, lf; Ritter, cf; Robbins, rf.
Caloric—Leaver, c; Carroll, p; Rauch, 1b; Podewell, 2b; Wallish, 3b; Osborn, ss; Eckert, lf; Mielke, cf; Kresslin, rf; William Hall, sub.
The Plumbers' line will be selected from the following: Donzer, p; Blighman, 1b; J. Maple, 2b; Pappie and Arnold, 3b; Halsey, Matthews and Anderson.

Parker vs. Detroit M. W. A. The Parker Pen Co. on Sunday will play the team of the Detroit Modern Woodmen at Yost's Park. The Woodmen are said to have one of the best amateur nines in the city of Detroit and the contest is expected to furnish plenty of good sport. Butters will be in the box for the Flower City squad and Hallen will catch.

CUBS TO PLAY FORT ATKINSON TOMORROW

Local Nine Will Dump Against Nine Tomorrow at Fort That Has Not Been Scored on This Season.

The Janesville Cubs will tomorrow tackle what is probably the hardest proposition they have yet attempted when they play the city team of Fort Atkinson at that place. Fort Atkinson has one of the strongest aggregations in the southern part of Wisconsin and thus far this season has had a winning streak that could not be broken. All of the games thus far played have resulted in shut-outs for the Fort nine. The Cubs, however, seem to have struck their stride and are in prime condition for the match tomorrow. At Stoughton last Sunday the local players held down a team composed of league players at Stoughton to a 10 to 3 score. Two new results have been put on the playing staff of the Cubs. Baker, who played last year with the Dr. Peppers of Rockford, the crack amateur organization of the Forest City. Baker played in thirty-four games last season and but eight errors were credited to him. His work with the stick was also very creditable. Johnson of Footville will work in the left side of the garden. He has the reputation of a good player and is not lacking in batting ability. The Cubs' line-up: Silverthorn, c; Berger, p; Baker, ss; Hemmings, 1b; Sullivan, 2b; Porter, 3b; Johnson, lf; Green, cf; Abraham, Mue Donald, and Owen, rf.

White Sox Challenge. The Janesville White Sox have a deal to any eighteen-year-old nine in this city or in Southern Wisconsin. They claim they are as good as any team in their class in the city and are desirous of meeting the Janesville Cardinals or similar organizations. Games can be booked with Manager Paul Mauthe or James Cantwell.

Milton Team Trimmed. At Milton yesterday the nine from St. Joseph's convent parochial school whitewashed the Milton Tigers, shutting them out 8 to 0. It was "easy money" all the way for the Janesville players and at no time was there any danger of Milton taking the lead. Dalton pitched for the local aggregation and had the Milton batters at his mercy. Blasdale worked behind the home slab.

EVANSVILLE HOLDS CLASS DAY PROGRAM

Evansville Graduating Class Presented Fine Program On Class Day—Personal Mention.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Evansville, June 2.—The seniors of the high school gave their class day program and play in the opera house last evening. As in former years the capacity of the hall proved insufficient to accommodate the crowd.

The evening's program opened with music by the city orchestra, and was followed by an interesting class play given by Charles Day. The class play was the "Moses and His People" and was equally entertaining. The class members were presented by Miss Clara Ober, who accompanied each girl with suitable comments and the hearty bursts of laughter showed that the jokes were well appreciated by the audience.

In his Senior address Robert Hall did himself great credit and also gave the Junior's some good advice. The Junior reply by Ivel Abner was followed by the class song. The song was of unusual merit and was well rendered and enthusiastically received.

Part two of the evening's entertainment was the class play: "At the end of the Rainbow." In this the graduates certainly did themselves much credit. The play was so well acted that no one would have thought that it was given by amateurs.

Personal News. The Misses Marjorie Wallace and Marjorie Wilder go to Detroit tomorrow to attend a dinner party at the college Saturday evening and will remain over Sunday with friends.

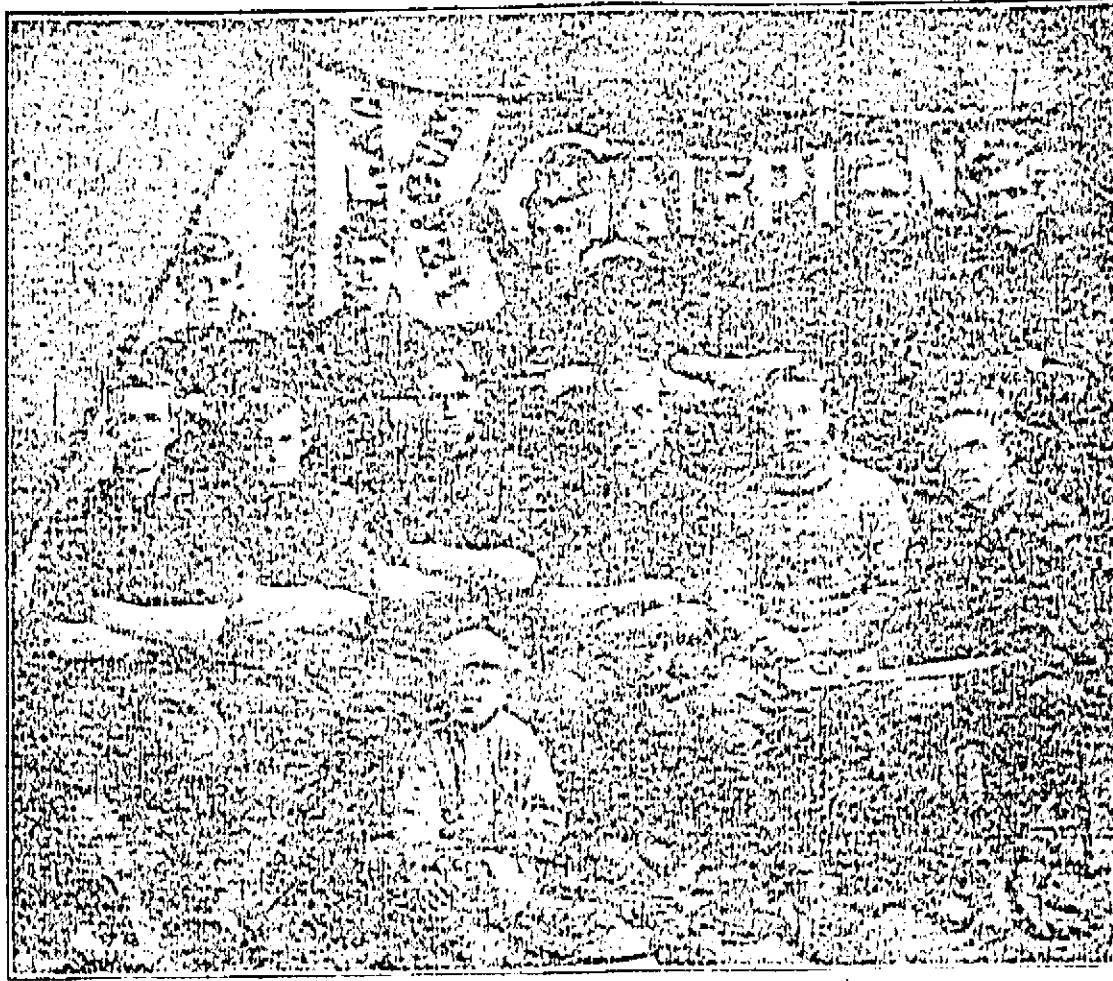

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Christman and Mrs. Emmeline Hatch of Clinton, were guests at the home of J. W. Christman Thursday and Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Astell Johnson of Janesville, were in Evansville during commencement.

Mrs. Ayval Park spent Thursday afternoon in Janesville.

MILTON TEAM AGAIN LEAGUE CHAMPIONS

High School Nine Won Pennant in Du Lac League For Second Time, Losing Only One Game.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Milton, Wis., June 2.—Milton high school closed their interscholastic league season last week, by defeating Edgerton, and won the pennant, since the locals were the only team to complete the schedule with only one game, a 3 to 2 (continuing battle on foreign ground, lost. The teams closed the season with the following: Making to their credit:

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Milton	8	1	.889
Stoughton	5	1	.833
Whitewater	4	4	.500
Palmyra	0	6	.000
Edgerton	0	6	.000

The last game between Milton and Edgerton was voluntarily forfeited to Milton, Edgerton preferring to award the locals this last game than to take a chance on losing more money, as their season has been very unsuccessful. Since Stoughton and Milton have each won a game from the other, this may be played off in Janesville next Friday, June 9. Besides winning all games in the Du Lac League, Milton won a series of games from the college nine and yesterday lost a fiercely contested exhibition game to the Milwaukee state champions, 5 to 3. Milwaukee played Thomas, a professional, at short under protest, while Milton lived up to the interscholastic rule. Thomas made a record of 1,000 per cent at bat during this game, his long hits winning for Milwaukee. The latter has lost but one game in several years, the thirteen-losing game, Milton won from them last year at Milwaukee by a score of 1 to 3. The game played in the league follows:

April 21—Milton 2b, Palmyra 8.
April 28—Milton 2b, Whitewater 6.
May 2—Milton 2, Stoughton 3 (ten innings).
May 12—Milton 10, Stoughton 6 (13 innings).
May 19—Milton 11, Palmyra 6.
May 22—Milton 3, Whitewater 1.
May 25—Milton 13, Edgerton 3.
May 29—Milton 9, Edgerton 0, (forfeit).
Total—Milton, 75; opponents, 27. Games won, 7; lost, 1.

BASEBALL NOTES.

During their stay at home the Brooklyn Dodgers played five errorless games in succession. Thirty players in the American League and nineteen in the National are hitting over the 200 mark. The western teams of the National League came very near making the Philadelphia Quakers jump the fence. Manager Chance of the Cubs recently lined "King" Cole $200 and Pitcher Weaver $100 for keeping late hours. They say that in Forest City, the Newark thriller, the Boston Red Sox have snared the last word in catching. Walter Johnson is back with the Washington team and expects to be able soon to help the Nationals to do a little climbing. The teams in the second division of the American Association are doing better work and the A. A. race should tighten up. The St. Louis Browns made no mistake when they copped Nelson, formerly of the White Sox. "Old" is doing great work with the Hudgdon. Two more old big league stars have joined the American Association—Lou Criger with Milwaukee and Harry Steinfield with St. Paul. If Clark Griffith doesn't get his pitchers to show something besides their uniforms pretty soon, the whole Red outfit will go to the wuzzles. Some dolms in the South Atlantic League this season. Charleston lost sixteen games in a row, and Jacksonville has tried four managers with poor result. Manager Fred Tenney of the Boston Rustlers has a regular ball player in Roy Miller. He is a classy fielder and when it comes to hitting is a bear. After losing fourteen straight games and dropping from the top to the bottom in the Eastern League race, Providence has taken a brace and is now out to start something. In order to keep within the salary limit of the New England League Owner also Bartlett of the Worcester club turned the managerial duties of his team over to John J. O'Donnell, secretary of the club. O'Donnell then signed Bartlett to play right field for $100 per month.

Pitcher Frank Smith is getting on to the layout of Cincinnati and doing better work for the Reds. A Chicago firm has named a cigar "The Fence Buster" in honor of "Fing" Bode of the White Sox.

Sickness and injuries to players have caused several major league clubs to look like Class B teams this season.

Manager Chance picked up a rattling good player in Doyle, who is playing the third station for the Cubs. Pitcher Koester, with Cleveland last season, is doing great work for the Portland team of the Pacific Coast League.

Harry Steinfield, the former Cub, now with the Boston Nationals, looks to be the right man to help the Rustlers.

The Cleveland Naps seem to be up against it again this season. With Lajoie out of the game the team goes on the sparrows.

Now that the Washington team is playing at home, Jimmy McAleer believes that his hired man will do something for the District of Columbia.

Hastings won 21 of the first 30 games played. The Eastern League teams will have to start soon if they expect to flag Ginzels' crew.

The New York Giants and the Detroit Tigers are stealing everything in sight that resembles a base. The two teams have pilfered over 160 bases so far this season.

Billy Gilbert and Jack Warner, who used to star with McGraw's Giants, are playing with the Erie O and P team. Gilbert is manager of the Erie terrors.

Ole Johnson, the New York Highlander, has filed suit for divorce from his wife, Edith Johnson. He also asks for the custody of a daughter seven years old and of a son of two.

The Boston police are making war on the baseball pools. Boston is not what is termed a "gambling town," but the big fans are keen to speculate to some extent on the national pastime.

The large bunch of youngsters now playing first base in the big leagues are all doing nice work. The list includes: Collins, of the White Sox; Hunter, of the Pirates; Williams, of the Red Sox; Luderus, of the Quakers; Sommerlot, of the Nationals; and Gahner, of the Tigers.

Spring Racing at Montreal. Montreal, June 2.—The spring meeting of the Montreal Jockey Club was inaugurated today, to continue for one week. The programme is well arranged and the meeting promises to be one of the most successful in the history of the club.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT.

They wanted him to buy a farm
A thousand miles remote,
In regions that were full of charm,
The proud promoter wrote.
The more he thought and thought of it
The more he liked the scheme;
To think of it he used to sit—
And then he had a dream.

(Now, dreams are very foolish things
Undoubtedly, it's true—
Your brain puts on its fairy wings
And flies away from you;
And yet it seems that some of us
Our cash would never keep
Unless we learned a lesson, thus,
By falling fast asleep.)

He had a dream a dollar came,
With tears its features wet;
A dollar came and called his name
In anger and regret.
The coin was shedding silver tears
From out its silver eye,
He asked the reason for its tears;
The dollar made reply:

"They tell me you intend to send
Me many miles away,
They tell me you intend to spend
In speculation gay
The dollar that has been to you
A servant many years,
To send me to some region new—
And hence these silver tears.

"I've lived in this community
Almost as long as you;
I've been in every family,
I guess, but one or two—
But one or two who, sad to say,
Had such a scheme in mind
And sent their hard-earned cash away
Some other land to find.

"I am the dollar that was paid
To Johnson for his wheat,
That Johnson gave again in trade
To Murphy for his meat,
That Murphy gave to Smith, you see,
For furnishing a knife,
That Smith left at the grocery
For candy for his wife.

"The grocer gave me up to Jones,
Who runs the drygoods store,
And that the doctor set his bones
This Jones can thank me for.
The doctor paid me out for oats
To feed his dapple gray,
The feedman paid me on some notes
I'll due a certain day.

"The banker bought a book or two,
And so the thing went on—
Each night I had an owner now,
A new one at the dawn.
A welcome waited when I came,
A godspeed when I went,
In fact, a thousand ways the same
On errands I was sent.

"But now you say that I must go,
A wanderer to be,
Afar from all the friends I know
Who know and honor me.
I wonder that you dare to look
Me fairly in the face;
And in your empty pocketbook,
Oh, who will take my place?"

The speculator then awoke,
The dollar in his hand,
And softly to himself he spoke,
"At last I understand."
He gave it to the drugist's clerk
And bought a brush and comb—
He found a dollar does its work
The best right here at home.

—Douglas Malloch.

The dollar of commerce is always a humble dollar, and the man who attempts to follow it through the ins and outs of every day experience soon loses track of his quarry, and every dollar is so exactly alike in purchasing power and value, that no thought is given to personality, and the most of us permit the coin of the realm to slip through our hands so rapidly that no time is given to acquaintance.

The world has but little use for the miser who hoards his money and keeps it out of circulation, but it encourages the spendthrift in every possible way, and offers every inducement for liberality.

There is a happy medium between the spendthrift and the miser, where money performs its mission because the minds which direct it are well balanced, and the circulating medium is kept in channels of usefulness.

The banks of the nation are the custodians of trust funds, and so jealous ly do they guard these interests that the spendthrift, as well as the man with visionary schemes to exploit, soon discovers that money, while abundant, is difficult to obtain.

The dollar, which came to the man in the dream, is a typical dollar, representing a single unit of the great flood of treasure which contributes so largely to local prosperity and happiness. During the money panic of 1907, when money disappeared from circulation and the banks came to the rescue with a substitute, which met the requirements of the home market, no serious inconvenience resulted. In fact, if these conditions could have continued for a year, it might have been a good thing for the country, because people were obliged to spend their money at home, and the habit was a good one to cultivate.

The home town is what we make it and the disposition to spend our money at home should be cultivated and developed. The dollar which stays in the channel, paying home obligations in its daily rounds, is worth more to the community than the ten dollars sent outside to be invested in some fake scheme.

Buy a lot, build a home, or take an interest in some home industry, and the town where you live will take on new significance, because of the home investment.

The material wealth of a nation is but poorly represented by the circulating medium called money. The farm, the factory, the shop and store, and the various avenues of business, express a small outlay of money in the beginning. Today they represent money, plus brain and muscle, and all the great forces of mind and heart which contribute to prosperity and success.

Wall street is the great money center of the nation, and some people are foolish enough to believe that this great money mart shapes and controls destinies. But the people's bank is not located in Wall street, nor any other financial center.

This great bank on which every enterprise depends for success, has neither vaults nor time locks, and its officers never abscond with the funds, yet it carries, unprotected, the great bulk of the world's capital.

The name of this common, yet valuable, treasure, is confidence, so common that it belongs to the equipment of every mind in normal condition, and yet so valuable that it represents the choicest asset of every man who shares it.

The bible has a good deal to say about faith, and some people have the notion that faith is a peculiar gift of God, and the exclusive property of the church, but this is a mistaken notion. It may be difficult to tell at what age a child matures and becomes an accountable being, but there is never a question as to when faith was born, for it comes with the first dawn of consciousness and unfolds more rapidly than any other faculty. It is as natural for a child to trust as it is to breathe, and it is equally natural for humanity to have confidence in humanity. That is why the great majority of mankind is honest and entitled to confidence.

The men who blaze a trail across the continent are inspired by faith. They may not live to see the great highway completed, but they have interested the bank of confidence and the work goes on to bless humanity. When the late President Cassatt brought to his board of directors his proposition for the great New York tunnel of the Pennsylvania road, and asked for $100,000,000, they called him visionary. President Cassatt passed on, but the finished product of his faith and brain stands today as one of the great object lessons in modern engineering.

Confidence represents not only the great bulk of the world's capital, but it is the barometer as well, which stamps and regulates values.

When the free silver craze swept over the country, threatening to engulf the nation in an era of repudiation and dishonor, the supply of gold was not equal to the demand, but today when American gold and silver are of equal value, as a circulating medium, there is no demand for either, in the channels of trade. Why? Because confidence is fully restored and any kind of a bank note is preferable to coin.

Confidence transforms the waste places into gardens, and contributes largely to the busy hum of industries. It blesses alike the nation and the citizen, and the man who ruthlessly or thoughtlessly destroys it, is an enemy to prosperity.

It is the best backer that money can possibly secure, and when the two work together, results are assured. Confidence is a home booster and when its forces are united the home town is on the upward climb. Faith in God and faith in humanity are forces worthy of careful cultivation.

ENGLISH SCHOOLS UP FOR INVESTIGATION

Present Ministry Finds Itself Confronted by an Unheard of Claim of the Public School System.

London, June 3.—Although legislative investigation of the English department of public education has been prevented for the time being by a parliamentary trick known in the House of Commons as a "blocking motion," recent accidental disclosures of its incompetency have resulted in a public outcry so vociferous that for its own political welfare, the administration cannot long withhold an inquiry and sweeping reforms.

Illustrative of the lateness of public comment concerning the present methods of the department, the London Morning News says: "In the eyes of an American, a German, a Swiss or a Scandinavian, a school is rightly considered a means to a highly important end and the schoolmaster no less important than his office. What do we make of this institution and its chief? Managed in practice, if not in theory, by the local vicar and his churchwardens, the school is an object of contempt and a subject of strife. Its headmaster a pliant dependant, underpaid, socially obscure, a pick-up of odd jobs that involve figuring and expediting."

The general view is that existing conditions are due to mismanagement by a long series of ministers, but the one responsible for it at the present moment is Minister of Education Walter Runciman, a Liberal. Most politicians believe that the scandal concerning his department will shortly force him into retirement.

Uncle Walt THE POET PHILOSOPHER

(Copyright, 1909, by George Matthew Adams. By WALT MASON.)
I'm tired of Jack London's tales of death in the Arctic snows, where the blizzards come and freeze the pilgrim's nose.
I'm tired of his Yankton flood, the husky and staid and barge; I'm tired of his tubs of blood, and butchers who roam at large.
I'm tired of the Curwood folk, who slaughter and howl and screech; I'm tired of the howls and the wails, who dig up the hidden truth from its grave in a stack of lies.
I'm tired of the stories coarse of life in the crowded flat; of narratives of divorce, and "studies" of this and that.
I blow in my fifteen cents for a popular magazine, and sit by my garden fence and read till I'm sore and numb.
The stories of saint and sinner, the stories of vice's chain, the stories of tubs of blood, all give me a convulsion.
The yarns of the dive and slum, the stories of fashion's sins, the stories of thief and bum, of Wallingford rule that who, all give me a dark green ache deep down in my troubled mind.
Ah me, that a man would make one book of the good old kind!

While you are visiting some one may be trying to ring you up on some important message.
The telephone is a wonderful convenience because it is a time saver, but if some one is constantly visiting on your phone the party trying to get you, who is told several times that the "line is busy" will figure that the TIME SAVING FEATURE is not real.

This is especially true on party lines. While one party is talking, the other subscribers on the line cannot use it.

Two banks failed in a little dried up town of central New York the other day and one man had $10,000 in cash which had been deposited for fifteen years drawing two per cent interest. Had he put the money in Wisconsin farm loans he would have had $12,000 more interest and all his money. Instead he received only $6,700 from the receiver. In other words, he invested $20,000 and received $6,000 in interest and $6,700 final dividends, total $12,700. By the farm mortgage route he would have received $20,000 interest and the whole principal, total $39,000. He lost just $25,300 by not using good judgment in investing his money.

REGULARS ORDERED HERE FOR FOURTH, ALSO THEIR BAND

CONGRESSMAN COOPER WIRES THAT DETAIL WITH BAND WILL BE HERE.

CELEBRATION CERTAIN

Lt. Col. Stearns of Monroe to Command the State Troops With Major Rossmann Second in Command.

"Through the efforts of Congressman Henry Allen Cooper of Racine, Janesville is to have a detail of regulars for the big military celebration, July 3d, 4th and 5th, and not only that but the crack band of the Fifth regular battery, now stationed at Ft. Sheridan, is also to be detailed for duty here on those days.

The following telegram was received from Congressman Cooper this morning from Racine where he is spending Sunday.

"Have just received a telegram from Washington that the War department has ordered a battery and band to Janesville for July 4th.

Efforts to secure this detail of regulars for the celebration have been in progress since last fall when the celebration was first discussed. The committee in charge of the celebration have received numerous letters from Washington relative to the matter, including one from President Taft's private secretary, the secretary of war, and frequent telegrams from Congressman Cooper, who has made the matter his personal business.

On his recent visit here Mr. Cooper was much pleased with the proposed celebration's plans and stated that he was doing all he could to secure the details of regulars with hopes of success. That he has succeeded is evidenced by today's telegram.

The committee is also planning to entertain Battery A of Milwaukee, with 102 men and 59 horses and four guns, who will arrive on a special train over the Northwestern on July 3d, and so into camp. This makes two crack batteries here for the big military parade and sham battle, July 4th.

The infantry contingent will be under command of Lt. Col. Stearns of Monroe, himself a veteran of the Spanish war, and Major Rossmann of Beloit. The following companies have been invited to take part and favorable answers were received from the majority of them, showing much interest in the celebration here. Company H of Monroe, Company I of Ft. Atkinson, Company J of Whitewater, Company L of Beloit, Company A of Milwaukee, Company F of Milwaukee, Company K of Milwaukee, Company M of Milwaukee, Company N of Milwaukee.

The committee has been experiencing some trouble in securing all the grounds needed for the celebration, but having been advanced in several cases, to an absurd figure, by property owners who see an opportunity of securing big revenue from the three days. Concessionists are also very insistent of their rights and as a result of the latter trouble the committee has secured the services of Hart J. Riddle of Milwaukee to handle all the concessions, and Mr. Riddle will be in entire charge of this department.

The committee will open headquarters in the building donated for this purpose by P. L. Myers, in the Myers theatre building about June 15. This will also be the quartermaster's supply depot, which will be in charge of George Kueck, quartermaster, and Albert Nott, assistant.

Aside from the big band of the United States battery, which will be here, the committee has secured the bands of Janesville, Edgerton, Beloit, Rockford and Evansville, and may possibly engage the Whitewater and Rockford bands. One of the features of the celebration will be the marching of the bands for a band parade, all playing the same music at the same time. This is a novel feature that should prove very attractive.

HAD NARROW ESCAPE IN MACHINE AT THE HOUGH SHADE PLANT

Clothes Literally Torn From May Hager, Worker at Factory, In Excitement Following Outbreak of Fire Yesterday.

In the excitement following the alarm of fire at the Hough Shade Corporation factory yesterday afternoon, May Hager, one of the girl employees there had her right limb broken and narrowly escaped serious injury when her clothing became caught in some of the machinery at the plant. Prompt action by workmen alone saved her. Shortly after the fire broke out, the smoke from the plant shop, where the fire occurred, drifted into the main building and the frightened employees rushed outside. Miss Hager afterward returned for her umbrella and in passing some of the machinery her clothes became caught in a machine and were literally torn from her body. Workmen stopped the machine by throwing oil on the belt and the girl was taken to a nearby residence and later removed to her home. She suffered no serious effects of the accident. "The girl is the thirteen-year-old daughter of Frank Hager."

The fire started in the drying room of the plant shop at the factory. A match carelessly dropped on the floor and ignited by a truck which one of workmen was pushing, is said to have caused the blaze. The contents of the building, which is separated from the main portion of the plant by only a runway, were very inflammable and profuse clouds of smoke poured forth. The fire extinguisher system of the factory was immediately brought into play and an alarm was hurriedly sent to the fire department from the company's private box, No. 33. The firemen from the Spring Brook station, situated nearby, were the first to arrive and a lead of hose was attached to the hydrant at the corner of Eastern avenue and McKay boulevard. The hydrant, however, broke and was rendered useless and water supplies had to be drawn from other hydrants. "Two one-inch streams were thrown on the blaze, but the fire was a hard one to fight on account of the density of the smoke. The firemen could not work long in the building and it was necessary to use them in relays. An immense amount of water was used on the inside of the building, about nine thousand gallons per minute being thrown and nearly eighty-one thousand gallons in all getting the blaze under control and finally extinguishing it. The building itself was but little damaged and it is thought one hundred and fifty dollars will cover the loss. The materials in the shop, however, caused and immense amount of smoke and had they not been brought under control the flames might have spread to the main structure. The total loss on building and contents, with it is estimated, be under a thousand dollars."

JUNE NINTH SET AS DATE FOR OPENING OF GOLF SEASON

Olin and Olson Donate Handsome Cup to Be Competed for by Players During Coming Season.

Friday, June 9th, has been the date set for the official opening of the golf season at the Skinsnap Golf club. The regular club day program, postponed from Decoration day, will be held, including the club dinner at six, followed by a dance and the annual contest between teams of the East and West side members in the afternoon.

Olin and Olson have donated a handsome silver loving cup as a trophy to be played for by the members, and the board of directors have decided that the cup shall be competed for and won twice by the same person before being awarded. It is by far the handsomest trophy cup that the club now has and is an exhibition in Olin and Olson's window.

The games committee insist that all players hand in two eighteen-hole scores so they may be handicapped properly, before June 9, or if not they will be placed at scratch. The week of June 16 will be set aside for the qualifying round for the Wilson Lane cup and scores must be handed in the Friday before.

At the formal opening dinner each club member is allowed to bring one invited guest. The committee, however, insists that the chef be notified how many dinners to prepare and the dinners will be served according to the time of putting in their order.

The opening day's program promises to be most interesting and it is expected that a large number will be present both at the dinner and dance in the evening.

The golf club has will begin running next Monday, June 5th. It will meet on the leaving the Myers House corner at 1:20 o'clock each week day afternoon, and meet cars leaving there every forty minutes thereafter, ending at 5:20. That is, the bus will meet cars leaving the Myers House at 1:20, 2:00, 2:40, 3:20, 4:00, 4:40 and 5:20.

By remembering that the first car met leaves the Myers House at twenty minutes past one and that the service is at forty minute intervals thereafter, members can keep the schedule in mind.

Leaving the club house, the bus will meet cars reaching the Myers House twenty minutes before five hours of the day, and will also meet cars reaching Myers House at six o'clock. After six P. M. bus service will be by special arrangement. A complete schedule will be posted at the club house.

Grover Hanna, Arrested for Stealing Rowboat From Paul Wolfgram, Fined Twenty-Five Dollars and Costs or Thirty Days.

Grover Hanna, of Akron, O., arrested yesterday by Beloit officers north of Beloit, was this morning arraigned in the local municipal court for stealing a rowboat from Paul Wolfgram of this city, and pleaded guilty. The charge, the judge decided, did not constitute a penitentiary offense, being a misdemeanor, and accordingly he gave Hanna a light fine, $25 and costs, $5.50, being imposed with the alternative of a term in the county jail of not to exceed thirty days. Hanna waived the preliminary examination and sought no trial, but entered his plea immediately. The judge was very lenient with the prisoner, who is only nineteen years of age. From the story told by Hanna it would appear that his partner, who was tried in Beloit yesterday, was the ringleader. He told a straight story and does not have the appearance of being bad. Questioned as to his family he told of a father and mother and two sisters living in Akron and when the court asked him, "Do you think they would be pleased if they knew of this?" tears rolled down the young man's cheeks and his face underwent although he strove to control his emotion. He said he left home to go to Kingston, Wis., had been heading his way and met Smith, who was arrested at the same time, at the new yards.

Charles Smith, the man who was caught with Hanna, was sentenced to three years in the Green Bay Reformatory, yesterday by Judge C. D. Rom of the Beloit municipal court. The pair camped near the home of Joe Mason on the river bank north of Beloit Thursday night and Smith broke into the chicken coop at the place and stole two chickens to be used for breakfast the following morning. The squawking hens aroused Mr. Mason and he with a neighbor pursued and captured Smith and Hanna and held them until the arrival of the Beloit officers.

In the Diamond Horseshoe.

A girl's scream clashed with the soprano's high note in the Jewel Song, and in a moment the Metropolitan Opera House was in confusion. The cry, half suppressed, broke the spell peculiar to a "Faust" night. The somewhat portly Marguerite, her voice soaring like a cage-bird, suddenly freed, was decking her nature person with the glittering stage gems left on her scented doorknob by the suave of devils. As the singer hung about her neck the rope of pearls with which Marguerite planned to fetter her soul, Mrs. Missioner, swinging her fan with a free motion, struck the slenderest part of her diamond collar. The blow was sharp. The golden thread on which the choicest of the Missioner jewels in their performed settings were strung, snapped. Instantly most of the freed drops of frozen fire that constituted Mrs. Missioner's magnificent necklace—the one with the Maharane diamond—were rolling on the floor of the box.

Mrs. Missioner, as the little scream broke from Dorothy March, a debutante she had taken under her wing for the evening, clutched at the few diamonds that fell into her lap. Miss March drew her skirts tightly about her ankles and sprang into a corner of the box, making room for the man who sprang to Mrs. Missioner's aid. Before another moment passed, Curtis Griswold was on his knees scooping together the scattered jewels with snow-gloved hands. Braxton Sands, slower of movement, bent with more dignity to the task. In the next box, separated from Mrs. Missioner's only by a low velvet rail, a man of Oriental features and complexion turned to watch the scramble for the jewels. Though he did not stir from his place, his hawk-like face seemed to thrust itself into the center of the excited group.

"Continue! Continue!" the singer urged, as she bent her gaze from the box to the conductor.

"What's the matter? Go on! Go on!" the stage manager cried in undertones from the wings. Others in the back of the house sought to cover the confusion with ill-timed applause. The moment was big with potential tragedy. One cry of "Fire!" might have sent those thousands of startled women and men battling along the aisles in an elemental fury of self-preservation. Mere prolongation of the situation without that terrible toxin might have ended in a smaller panic. But the liquid tones of the soprano soaring again in the pyrotechnics of the Jewel Song reclaimed the attention of the audience. The conductor, evidently eager to hide his own momentary loss of poise, fully lifted his men through the intricacies of the accompaniment. Promptness of action by the stage manager restored order behind the scenes.

Nothing of all these incidents struck the sense of anyone in the Missioner box. All four of its occupants were concerned for the immediate recovery of the diamonds that had sprung from Mrs. Missioner's neck to her lap, and then stampeded across the floor. Griswold, still on his knees, rescued the greater number. Sands, a man of action as well as of millions, picked up the larger gems. Miss March sprang further into her corner of the box, and dragged her petticoats over more closely until her immature form seemed chiseled in tulle.

"Look in all the corners—look everywhere," Mrs. Missioner urged. "There's one behind the chair," she pointed.

"There's another," cried Dorothy, pointing at Griswold's foot. A glance from the dark stranger in the next box directed the searchers toward still another part of the floor, and every move was rewarded by the recovery of a gleaming stone. One by one, by twos, by threes, the diamonds were gathered, and still the search went on. Just as they scooped them up, Sands and Griswold poured the glittering treasure into Mrs. Missioner's lap.

"Are they all there?" asked the millionaire.

"No, no," answered the widow. "There are several more. Please look again—look everywhere. Dorothy, help me count them."

Griswold and Sands renewed their search, peering into the remotest corners, pushing chairs about, looking, reaching, gasping with the zeal of Klondikers, urged again and again by the owner of the jewels.

The glittering horseshoe of the Metropolitan deserves its name. The Kadira of Kimberly, the pearl-divers of Polyneasia, the gold-seekers of the Klondike, the diggers into earth's secrets the world over toll ceaselessly to maintain the brilliance of that big jewel show. They send their diamonds and rubies and emeralds and sapphires, their pearls and opals and gold, to gleam on the heads and breasts and gowns of women whom the industry of one generation, or the stock-market luck of another, has crowned with riches. A night at the opera is a parade of the wonders gems can work and of that which, too often, gems can buy.

In all that electric sparkle, no gems outshone the Missioner jewels, of which the necklace Mrs. Missioner wore that night was the masterpiece. For in its center blazed the famous Maharane diamond.

"I think we've found them all," said Sands, rising and emptying his cupped hand into the millionaire's mantle in Mrs. Missioner's lap.

Sands and Griswold returned to their chairs. Reluctantly, reaching the thrilling little by-scene was at an end, the other members of the audience again focused their attention on the stage. Marguerite doleful Dame Martha, Faust won Marguerite, and the curtain descended on an operatic triumph, only to be raised and lowered and raised again as boxes, or orchestra and balconies recalled the singers for their need of praise.

As they passed, bowing and smiling before the curtain, a low cry came from Mrs. Missioner's throat.

"O-o-o-o!" she exclaimed, half-rising in her excitement, "the largest of all is gone! The Maharane!"

Instantly the turmoil was renewed. Dorothy sprang to her feet and, before either of the men could anticipate her, began pushing the chairs about until all save Mrs. Missioner's were grouped in a corner of the box. Then the little debutante, regardless of her fluff frock, raked the floor with her fan, with her free hand, her feet. In almost hysterical quest of the still missing diamond, Griswold, nearly as excited as the women, recommenced his own search.

All the action in Sands leaped to the fore. Stretching a long arm across the bent backs of Griswold and Little Miss March, he thrust a thumb against an electric button.

"It can't be in the box," he said decisively, and when a breathless usher rapped on the door, the millionaire tore it open and whispered: "Run down to the orchestra and look everywhere around this box. A diamond has fallen over the rail."

"Dorothy, Dorothy, I cannot go until we find it," sobbed Mrs. Missioner. The woman who, with a sweep of her pen, could summon all the artists who had sung their souls out on the stage to sing as soulfully in her salon, who, with another pen-sweep, could repossess them beyond their most arrogant demands, was in tears because she had lost a diamond.

But such a diamond! Its prisoned fire held the history of an alien race. "After all," said Griswold in a swift aside to Dorothy, "she has recovered the other gems, and even if she cannot find this one—"

"Don't you know?" returned Little Miss March excitedly. "Don't you really know, Mr. Griswold?"

"Know what, Miss March?" asked the clubman.

"Why, the history of that stone! Don't you know Mrs. Missioner's husband bought it from a Maharane, that they brought it all the way from India? Don't you know it's the finest diamond in America?"

Griswold shook his head. He was pursuing the search perfunctorily. His hands were busy, but his eyes roved over the house. Lately he noted the slowly ebbing interest of the audience, the departure of hundreds by twos and threes and larger groups, the thronging toward the lobby for the usual visits between the acts. It was with faint interest that he saw several swarthy faces weaving through the crowd. Had his eyes been able to follow those faces, he would have seen them converse in the corridor behind the box—the box in which sat the Oriental with the face of a hawk.

The hawk watched the Missioner box. So steadily did he direct his gaze at Mrs. Missioner that she was on the point of averting her glance when the stranger's flashlight gaze struck a spark from her memory. She bowed, coolly, as she began the introduction of her head, but in the end graciously. Her dark neighbor was satisfied with that dubious encouragement.

"You are fond of your jewels as ever, I see," he said, in a low tone, as of one claiming a share in intimate memories.

"Yes," she answered with an abstracted air. She was harking back to days long gone, and evidently the recollection was not unpleasant.

"I cannot blame you," said the Oriental. "Every one knows you have the most wonderful jewels in the world—one of them, at any rate."

"These," returned Mrs. Missioner, "are among my very finest diamonds. But they are nothing to the Maharane, and that is gone."

A leaping flash in the Oriental's eyes soon faded to a gleam of polite interest.

"You are brave," was all he said, "to wear them in public. Many a woman, save in her own boudoir, would content herself with the duplicates."

"Duplicate!" There was unmistakable contempt in Mrs. Missioner's tone.

"I trust," the Easterner continued, "you will recover the Maharane, too."

Mrs. Missioner had no time for more than another slow bending of her head when the usher who had gone to the orchestra hurried into the box.

"I've looked thoroughly, sir," he said to Sands, "and I can't find the diamond anywhere."

The millionaire slipped a banknote into the man's hand.

"Try again," he said quietly. "There's a good deal more than this in it for you if you find it."

Griswold, as he moved to let the usher pass, stepped backward with

She Went Straight to the Room in Which She Kept Her Jewels.

clerk slipping from her white slippers, and paused in front of the curtain.

"You don't expect to find your diamond there?" inquired Griswold amazedly.

Sad Truth. London man says he cuts his own hair to fool the barber. May fool the barber, but he can't fool anybody else.

South Dakota Seeks Settlers. Sioux Falls, S. D., June 3.—Representatives of commercial and industrial organizations throughout South Dakota are gathering here for a conference at which plans will be discussed for a systematic campaign to attract desirable settlers to this State.

Not a Necessity. Much that we think essential is merely a matter of habit.—Thomas Wentworth Higginson.

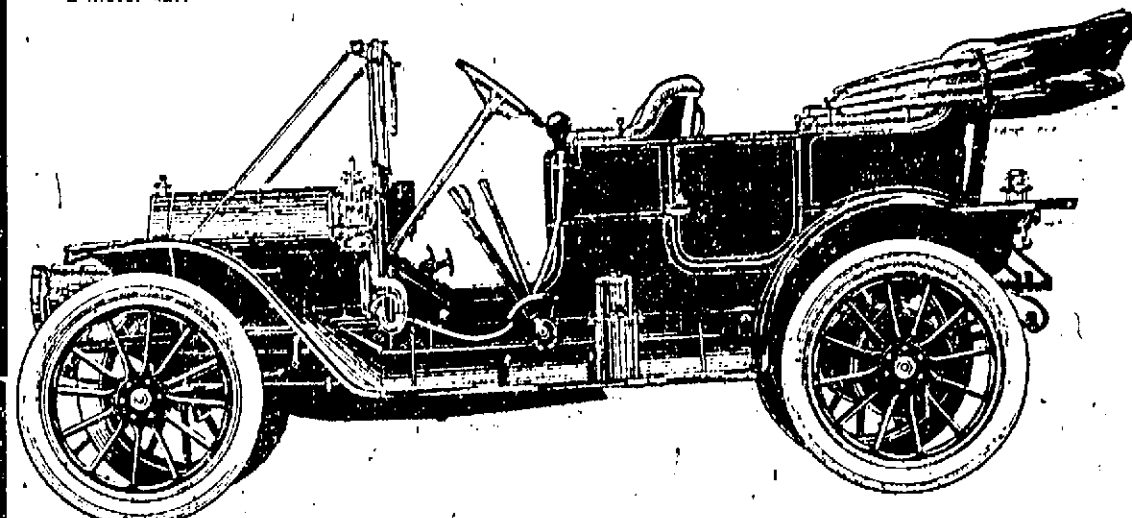

When Women Rule. "That lady judge has decided against us." "That's all right," said the feminine attorney. "I know her. By tomorrow she'll change her mind." —Kansas City Journal.

Dullest of All. In busy New York there is nothing busier than the telegraph instruments, which tick off an average of 25,000 messages each day.

Too True. "What's one man's get-rich-quick scheme," said Uncle Eben, "is often a get-poor-sudden scheme for a whole lot of folks."

The REO Is "All There"

Whatever test you apply to the Reo you'll find it "all there." It has all the qualities you want in a motor car.

HILL CLIMBING—You want a car that will take grades without much let-up of speed, and the best test of that is mountain climbing.

The Reo (the same car, by the way, that went from New York to San Francisco in 10½ days) climbed to the top of Mt. Hamilton in California—a distance of 24½ miles in 65 minutes, beating the former world's record by 10 minutes.

RACING—You may not want to go over sandy roads at 52 miles an hour; but you do want a car with the power and ability that this speed implies.

On October 15, 1910, the Reo raced over a very sandy 50-mile road with a higher priced car well known for its racing record and beat it by more than 10 miles. Reo time, 57 minutes 43 seconds.

ENDURANCE AND RELIABILITY—You don't want to turn your pleasure jaunts into tests of endurance; but you want proof that your car will stand more strain than you will ever put it to.

In the New York to Atlanta run of 1910, the Reo finished in perfect condition and challenged every other car, regardless of price, to a technical examination. There were no "takers."

In August, 1910, the Reo went from New York to San Francisco in 10 days, 15 hours and 30 minutes, without a wrench being touched to its engine.

COMFORT—Apply that test yourself. Let us take you out for a spin in a Reo over any kind of road you may choose around here.

How To Make An Automobile Valuation

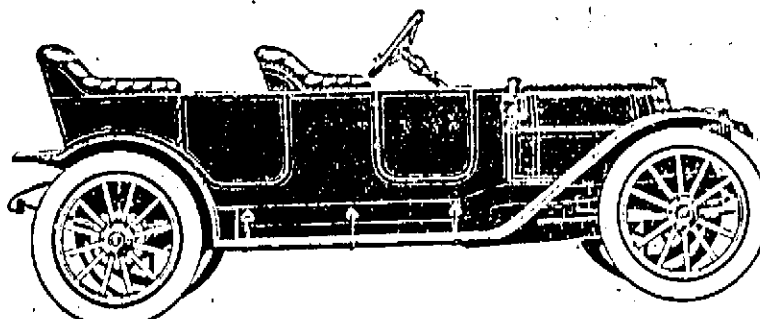

DETERMINING the value of an automobile is exactly like finding out the worth of any other staple article of necessity, the real value of which you do not feel capable of passing judgment on yourself. If you wanted a new heating system installed in your home, your first move would be to write several responsible concerns and invite them to make bids. These bids you would analyze and see exactly what each firm offered and at what price. You would check each list of specifications—one against the other. If all the propositions specified about the same standard equipment, but varied in price, you naturally would give the job to the lowest bidder. Having satisfied yourself as to quality it would come right down to a matter of dollars and cents.

Analyze an automobile in the same way. It's merely a case of simple comparisons. Merely a case of seeing what is offered you at a given price—just a simple checking up of the specifications—of finding out something about the concern that made the car—whether or no they are large manufacturers or just assemblers—whether or not many of their cars are in use—if so, how many? And get some facts about the car's record, about its ability to "stand up." In other words, put the facts of one car against the other, and then you can determine for yourself which is the best to buy at a given price.

A comparison of the Overland Model 52 at $1600 with any $2500 car on the market will show you how sixteen hundred dollars will go as far as twenty-five hundred. Just take the specifications of any $2500 car. Start with the wheel base and go on through with the motor—horse power—size of wheels—transmission—trimmings, etc. Check up the whole equipment and see if the $1600 Overland won't balance with the $2500 machine. A car should not be judged by its price. It's the worth of the car you are paying for—the actual facts determine its intrinsic value. Facts are the only things you can base your valuation on.

You know that the greater the manufacturing facilities of a plant the more economical is its finished product. The Overland plants are the largest and most economically operated in the world. They employ 4000 of the most skilled men known to the trade. They operate more automatic machines than other manufacturers. Here you will find more modern methods for reducing manufacturing costs and this is only possible by our enormous annual output. This year they will build 20,000 cars. Any business man knows that a plant making 20,000 cars can naturally produce them for less cost—per car—than the manufacturer making but three or four thousand.

Call at the garage. Get an Overland catalogue. Do the same with other dealers. Take them all home. Make the simple comparisons we pointed out and rely on your own common sense. Of course, if you know something about a motor car, no much the better. In that event, you'll buy an Overland quicker than ever. If you will send us your name and address we will gladly mail you an Overland Book. This gives you the facts you want. Ask for the new catalogue.

Forty-inch Wheels

COMFORT in the Rambler has been attained by careful study of owners' preferences. Forty-inch wheels, big tires, and 128-inch wheel base neutralize the inequalities of the road. Seven-eighths elliptic springs and shock absorbers soften the impact of the jolts and limit reaction. The distance between the seats and the floor is just right, and the steering pillar may be adjusted to suit the comfort of the operator. The leather and hair used for upholstery is that found in the finest club furniture. The Spare Wheel removes worry about tire trouble. The brakes, being larger than necessary, provide a feeling of security. The safety starting device protects you from injury while cranking. The offset crank shaft and straight line drive enable slow driving on high gear in crowded traffic, and obviate the necessity of rushing the hard pulls through sand and up grades.

In principal cities, a telephone message to the Rambler representative will bring a car to your door for inspection. A postal will bring you the Rambler magazine.

$1.00 Down, Then 50c a Week Buys a Lot in Pleasant View Addition to Janesville

Pleasant View Addition is bounded on the south by Pleasant St., on the east by Pine St. and on the north by Mineral Point Ave.

A Janesville Lot on one of the main thoroughfares of the city, and in one of the best cities of the Middle West, for only $1.00 down and 50c a week in PLEASANT VIEW ADDITION

WE CHARGE NO INTEREST

We pay the taxes until you receive your deed. We allow ten consecutive weeks for sickness. We allow you to garden your lot. You receive warranty deed when lot is paid for. We allow 15 per cent. discount for cash. We allow four weeks leeway in making weekly payments. How much more could we give you for only 50c? If you wish to pay more than 50c at a time, you may do so and it is credited ahead. If you prefer to pay monthly instead of weekly you may do so. You can pay any amount you wish at any time during the life of the contract.

Every lot will have a card on it the day of the sale, showing lot number and price, and the price on the card is all it will cost you, no more, no less. Choose your lot or lots, pull the card or cards and take them to our office on the ground and receive your contract and pass-book.

We give you the right to sell, assign and transfer your lot or lots. Every pass-book is provided with a transfer sheet.

PLEASANT VIEW ADDITION

Never have the people of Janesville been offered more desirable property at such terms and prices. A more desirable location for a home could not be found. Come out early, rely on your own judgment, see the property and decide for yourself whether it is what we claim or not.

A FEW THINGS TO REMEMBER

That Pleasant View Addition is the finest residence property ever offered on such terms. That it is only a few minutes' walk from the farthest point in the addition to the center of the city. That no interest whatever is charged, that every cent is credited on lot; that we will not sell to objectionable people; that you receive warranty deed when lot is paid for; that a 15 per cent. discount will be allowed for cash; that no property in Janesville will advance like this; that we pay the taxes until lot is paid for. That young men can find no better place to put their small savings. That all weekly payments are made to the Bower City Bank, Janesville. That this addition is high, dry and has good drainage. That the sale opens WEDNESDAY, JUNE 7, AT 8 A. M. Sale rain or shine. That Janesville is bound to be a greater Janesville.

We mean what we say and are acting in good faith.

If you don't believe it, investigate and find out.
